Jelmer surveys the labour market for civil engineers

Wisse Kommunikatie is currently conducting a survey for Jelmer, the largest provider of multi company traineeships in civil engineering. Jelmer offers talented engineers a three-year traineeship, and together with its associated business partners provides an active contribution to improving civil engineering's image. It wants to work in 2011 on strengthening its position as an authority in educating the engineers of the future, and has asked Wisse Kommunikatie to support it in doing that.
